Lab News

The White House recently announced that the University of Pittsburgh health sciences schools and UPMC are forming a Center for Medicine and the Microbiome. This new space has more than $5 million in funding from the Department of Medicine, UPMC and UPMC enterprises. Pitt's dental school contributed funding and 3,500 saliva samples. These samples are from patients that have both dental and UPMC records, and will come from The Dental Registry and DNA Repository which Dr. Vieira started in 2006.
